Now You Can Finally Smell Like Star Trek's Sulu

BY SCOTT CHRISTIAN

Ever wonder what the bridge of the Starship Enterprise smells like? Well, if it's going out night for Mr. Sulu, apparently it smells like "mandarin zest, Italian bergamot and fresh ozone transitioning to night-blooming jasmine." That's right, original Star Trek cast member and current national treasure George Takei now has his own fragrance, and it's called "Eau My" (get it?). It will be released on December 15th and will be available for order on Amazon.com. And if you're looking to get that Super Saver shipping discount, you might want to try pairing it with the always popular Leonard Nimoy Face Regenerating Bedtime Mask.
